Ration Dos And Don'ts For Householders Are Given To Avoid Delays And Confusion

Volunteer workers are distributing Ration Book 3 this week-end. Distribution began yesterday in Newmarket and continues until Saturday.

Newmarket distribution points are King George school, Alexander Muir school, St. John's school, and town clerk's office annex. J. R. Greer, who is in charge of Newmarket distribution, will be at the town clerk's office annex.

"The application card in the old book (second page from the back of the book) must be filled in at home in block letters and signed by holder if over 16 years of age," Mr. Greer said. "Parent's or guardian's signature will do for holders under 16 years of age."

"Do not detach the card but take the book, containing it to the distribution point to obtain a new one. One person may secure the ration books of all persons in his household if they are properly filled out and signed. Residents of rural areas may apply on behalf of neighbors but here again they must be sure that the cards are properly filled out and signed by the holders."

"Be sure to retain the old book, as there will be a period of over-lap when coupons from both books will be valid. Persons staying away from home will be able to get their books at any distribution point in Canada, but they must fill in their permanent residence address on the application card."

Camp Hardballers Seek New Worlds To Conquer

IDENTICAL TEN TO ONE SCORES MARK CAMP VICTORY

The Newmarket hardball league wrote final to the 1943 season when the military camp handed a 10-1 defeat to the Davis Leather team on Friday evening.

The game was the second of a best two-out-of-three series for the championship. The unusual part about the series was the fact that the camp took both games by identical scores.

Bob Peters started on the mound for the leathermen and as soon as he stepped on the diamond the camp started on him with a three-run outburst in the first inning.

Featured in this attack was a home run over the centre field fence by Dick, who handled centre field for the camp. Dick's home run came with two men on base.

The second inning was a repetition of the first, the only difference being that the camp went one better in this frame. The soldiers pounded four runs across the plate in this inning. A double by Exelby drove two of them across.

The second inning finished Peters and Oliver Gould started on the mound for the tanners in the third. The game might have been a different story if Gould had started it. Gould held the big guns of the camp to one run in the third, none in the fourth and two in the fifth. His fast ball was working to perfection. He struck out three men during his brief tenure on the mound.

Lack of clutch hitting caused the downfall of the leathermen. In every inning they ended up with men on the base paths but there was no punch in the pinches. Their lone run was scored in the fourth inning, when the old reliable "Shorty" Turan crossed the plate.

The tanners got seven hits off the combined deliveries of "Lefty" Newbold and Clark Exelby. Newbold struck out five men in the four innings he worked.

The camp, winners of the town league, is now looking for new worlds to conquer and advances into the O.B.A. series. No opponent has been selected yet.

Camp: Buchowski 3b, Newbold p, Hodge ss, Exelby 1b, Dick cf, Hewson c, Sutton lf, Watson 2b, Morris cf, Langard rf.

Davis Leather: W. Haskett ss, Gunn 2b, Peters p, Cain cf, Gould rf, Turan c, Tansley 3b, Harman lf, G. Haskett 1b.

Sheep Slaughter Results In Organized Dog Hunt

OWNERS OF DOGS WILL HAVE TO PAY FOR SHEEP KILLED

Mounting sheep losses in East Gwillimbury have led Reeve J. S. Osborne to announce that the owners of dogs found killing sheep will be held responsible for the losses.

The council voted close to $500 at the last council meeting, and has paid out $1,200 this year for loss of sheep, according to Clerk J. L. Smith. Total dog taxes, out of which sheep claims are supposed to be paid, amount to only $800. Further losses are being reported daily.

The township is organizing a patrol to destroy dogs found on property where sheep are kept or found off their own premises between sunrise and sunset.

The township, in co-operation with the Ontario department of agriculture, is obtaining the necessary ammunition through the wartime prices and trade board.

ARRIVES OVERSEAS

BENEFIT FOR PAT VERNON IS PROMOTED

A sports night to honor Pat Vernon is being arranged by J. L. Spillette and the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

A presentation will be made to Mr. Vernon, in appreciation of his fine contribution to amateur sport and his encouragement and training of young athletes, and anyone who would like to share in the gift should get in touch with Mr. Spillette or Jack Duffield, secretary of the Veterans. Mr. Vernon is a Great War Veteran and is credited with developing many of Newmarket's stars.

Mr. Spillette has arranged eight boxing bouts to be held in the Newmarket arena on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 9.

Feature bout will be between Frankie Bricker, Brantford, former Canadian welterweight champion and Johnnie Britt, Hamilton, runner-up for the Canadian welterweight championship in 1940.

The old master, Alex. Webster, will come to Newmarket the same evening with his Peerless Engineering softball team to meet the ab' champion Redmen.

Davis Leather Co. started the contributions with a gift of $100. Among others who contributed to the fund are H. E. Gilroy, I. Lindenbaum, Smith's Hardware, Geer and Byers, Taylor's service station, Frank Bowser, W. J. Patterson, R. C. Morrison, J. C. Best, Roadhouse and Rose.

USES CIGARETTES FOR MONEY - PRISONER

Three letters, inside of two days, prisoner of war mail, have been received by the parents of Sgt. Fred Evans.

The last letter had been received on June 29 and said: "Things have tightened up considerably of late." So when no letters came, his parents thought he must have meant restrictions on correspondence. However, after nearly two months three letters have arrived, dated June 4, June 13 and June 28. He must have referred to something else.

In the first letter he says he had just received an air mail letter from his mother dated March 28. In the next he says, "Do hope you're receiving my mail O.K. Yours seems to be coming quite well although take quite some time. Still no January parcel. We've all nearly given them up."

The June 28 letter says, "Received your third parcel last week—22nd—but still no second. Haven't had your letter yet saying what you sent in it, but I believe it arrived intact." He enumerated what was in the box and ended by saying, "In all it was a grand parcel and thanks a million. Cigarettes always welcome—please send some at least every month. They are our money." In the June 4 letter he says: "I'm manager of the Royals' softball team, also an 'Aussie' team. I have some good pals among them. Weather's fine. Flies bad. News good. Hope to be home for my birthday (Feb. 29). Will beat Uncle C. at bridge."

In the June 13 letter he says, "The weather here has been rather chilly lately, but not bad. They are holding sports day in camp today, Whitsun holiday—but I'm staying out of everything—too lazy!"

"The inference is that too much exercise makes them all the more hungry with so little to satisfy their appetites, for Fred never passed up any kind of sport," commented Fred's mother.

One letter ended by saying, "Three years now away from Canada. Still wear moustache and scar. Please remember me to everybody."

WAS YOUR PAPER LATE? HERE'S WHY - SORRY!

"Why was my paper late?" is a frequent inquiry reaching The Era and Express office these days.

Sometimes The Era and Express does not reach distant points promptly due to mail congestion. The post office system is carrying an unprecedented load, and probably has less staff than in normal times.

Frequently, however, the delay occurs in The Era and Express office. The Era and Express is understaffed and is training new employees. The press run of 2,900 copies, which for an eight-page paper means 5,800 impressions on a book press, is much larger than that of either of the two weeklies that were amalgamated in 1942.

Sometimes printing and mailing is not completed until Friday forenoon, instead of Thursday afternoon.

The Era and Express asks understanding and forbearance until the war is over. The Era and Express also asks contributors, correspondents, advertisers and press secretaries to help avoid late issues by sending their material in early. Type-setting begins each Friday morning for the following week's paper, and those who provide copy early are giving a helping hand.

The daily vacation Bible school at the Church of the Nazarene was a huge success. The total enrollment of 254 was an increase of 11 over last year and made it the largest vacation Bible school ever held in Newmarket.

The best indication of the sustained interest of the children was the daily average attendance of 180.

Half A Crop, Higher Livestock Holdings Ask Quick Action

Farmers Asked To Act Immediately To Save Themselves From Feed Grain Shortage In 1944

The foresight of the five virgins who provided themselves with oil for their lamps while there was yet time is being cited by York county agricultural leaders to district farmers.

They are not mentioning the other five ladies who did not look ahead, as they hope that few farmers, when winter comes, will find themselves with inadequate feed grain supplies. While the foolish virgins paid for their own lack of foresight, not only the farmers concerned but they and the people of Canada and all the United Nations will pay for failure to place feed grain orders now, it is said.

"There should be 200 carloads a day leaving the lakehead, but there are only 200 a week," said Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn this week. "The idea is to get the grain into the farmer's barns now, and that is why both Dominion and provincial subsidies are highest now and are being graded down as the season advances."

Mr. Cockburn said that most of the terminal elevators are pretty well filled up with wheat and that in order to move feed grain from the west it must go right into the barn of the farmer who is going to use it.

"It is next year's supply of feed grain that we are worrying about," said Mr. Cockburn. "After New Year's we will be running into snow and ice, and rail transportation will be even harder pressed. A tremendous amount of rolling stock is being used for troop movements and carrying war supplies."

Estimates of a 40 or 50 percent grain crop in York county were not far out, Mr. Cockburn thought. "The acreage is down because of the late spring, and the yield is of poor quality. A lot of the grain is scarcely worth harvesting. That applies to some of the early grain that should be the best. Some of the late grain is good for late grain."

"We definitely have to have a lot more western grain than last year," said Mr. Cockburn. "We have less grain of our own and our livestock holdings are so much higher."

Mr. Belugin explained that the meeting was called to consider postponing the opening of the high school beyond Sept. 7, the official opening date, to provide help on farms. He said that Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn had advised him that one week's delay would provide ample help, unless more was required later in the fall.

It was moved by Mr. Patterson, seconded by Dr. Muckle, and carried, that the school officially open on Monday, Sept. 13, and that registration day be held on Sept. 8 to assist the principal in arranging his timetable.

RECENT THEFTS ARE WARNING TO CAR OWNERS

From Sutton, Richmond Hill and Concord come reports of the activities of car thieves.

Cecil Carpenter of Sutton had his car stolen on Saturday. Provincial officers found it abandoned near Dufferin St. on Highway 7. That was early Sunday morning after George W. Pool found that his milk transport truck, laden with 62 cans of milk, had been stolen from in front of his home. Richmond Hill police were of the opinion that the same thieves had taken the vehicles. Meanwhile, at Sutton, County Constable Hill was of the opinion that a car abandoned two miles from Sutton had been used by thieves before they took the Carpenter car.

Norman Bowes of Concord had his experience, not with thieves that break in, but with thieves that break out. He unknowingly locked them into his garage, from which they managed to break out during the night.

MUDDLED THINKING

Are Canadians going to vote against the federal Liberal government because it has imposed regulations and restrictions designed to help win the war? Are they going to listen to those who run with the hounds and hunt with the hares—those who criticize the government because it does not do enough and because it does too much?

The Midland Free Press-Herald points to the writing on the wall: "When that election takes place it is practically certain his government will meet the fate of all other governments which have steered a country through a time of crisis. No matter how successful such governments may be the ungrateful public are resentful of the restrictions placed on their liberty, high taxation, and wages which never seem to increase fast enough to catch up with high prices. And so they take these grievances out on a government which has done a great job for them. There is little gratitude in public life and foolish is the public man who expects it. It does not pay off in votes."

We have no objection to people voting against the Liberal government, but we think that people who intend to vote against that government both because it has not prosecuted the war vigorously enough and because it has imposed too many regulations interfering with individual privileges should reconsider their position. There is a lack of clear thinking there that doesn't contribute to good government.

The Midland Free Press-Herald concludes its article (reprinted in last week's Era and Express) with the words: "Liberalism appears again headed for the valley of humiliation." But there is no Beauharnois scandal this time. There can be no humiliation should a party go down to defeat after doing what the Free Press-Herald calls "a great job," if a party goes down to defeat because it had the unhappy responsibility of imposing war-time restrictions on those of us who remain safely and comfortably and sometimes profitably at home.

TOWN PLANNING

The Toronto Northwestern Y.M.C.A. in a recent three weeks "learn-to-swim" campaign taught 226 youngsters to swim and gave advanced lessons to others who had already made a beginning. The homeless Northwestern "Y" used the York Memorial Collegiate swimming-pool. This York township school was the subject of many a battle in York county council some years ago, because half of its initial cost and half of its upkeep, like the cost and upkeep of all county schools, fall on the county.

Somehow we do not think that that is the way for Newmarket to get a swimming-pool, to make it part of the high school and have the county shoulder half the cost. Newmarket does need a swimming-pool, however, and we are happy to say that during the past summer some public-spirited citizens have been studying ways and means. Apparently the cost, partly due to the war, would be much greater than the sponsors first thought. If the dreams of these citizens had materialized or should materialize while the war is still in progress, the pool would have been, and would be, primarily for the benefit of the men in khaki stationed in Newmarket for as long as they are here.

It seems to us that Newmarket needs a community planning committee, a representative group of citizens, which would look down the years, and plan for the future well-being of our citizens, including our boys and girls. Such a committee would study recreation needs, hospital needs, business needs, housing needs, and lay plans which successive town councils might carry into effect as funds and the passage of time permitted.

If we had had such a committee some years ago, the county of York might have been induced to obtain ownership of the old radial right-of-way from Armitage through to Jackson's Point (part of it was acquired by the township of North Gwillimbury), and after this war province and county might have built a route to Lake Simcoe that would have put Newmarket very much on the tourist map.

If we had such a committee today, our town council might be induced to secure certain properties whose ownership would make easy at some future time a solution of the Main St. congestion problem.

Such a committee would now be studying the best use to make of the public desire, following the war, to honor those who have served in the armed forces. Should Newmarket's war memorial take the form of a hospital wing, or of a public library, or of a young people's recreation centre (perhaps a branch of the Y.M.C.A.) which would include an indoor swimming-pool? The town should not set its sights too low. That good friend of Newmarket, the late Hon. E. J. Davis, indicated his faith in this town's capacity for co-operation and accomplishment when he made a $10,000 bequest conditional on Newmarket people adding $20,000 to it for a war memorial. He was thinking of another war, and other heroes, but Newmarket might undertake a community project to honor the heroes of two wars. Mr. Davis' challenge is still there.

CENSORSHIP OF PRIVATELY EXPRESSED OPINION

It is understandable how, during the panic of the earlier years of the war, when we thought air raids on Canada, or even invasion possible, well-meaning officials, with more appreciation of military necessities than of Anglo-Saxon political liberties, started the censorship of mail going from one point in Canada to another. Today there is no excuse for its continuance. We have all had a chance to return to our senses. Opening of letters addressed to Hon. R. B. Hanson, and their contents being communicated to members of the government, was complained about in parliament by Mr. Hanson. Presumably that sort of thing has stopped.

None of us minds having soldier mail censored. Soldiers have military information that is not to be broadcast, and may easily tell too much in their letters. There has also been some justification for censoring letters originating at defence points within Canada. The writer is accustomed to having personal letters reaching him from Nova Scotia, even when they come from a coastal village which entirely lacks any military or naval secrets, censored.

However, he takes the position that such letters, from one point within Canada to another, should be censored only as to information contained and not as to opinions or advice offered by one person to a friend or relative.

Yet we read that a Vancouver man has been sentenced to six months in jail because in a letter, which a censor opened, he advised his brother in Sault Ste. Marie against enlisting. A man has a right to advise his brother concerning such an important step as enlisting, and that right must include both the right to advise to enlist or not to enlist. If there is any justification for a censor opening a letter from Vancouver to Sault Ste. Marie it should be only to delete any witting or unwitting military information, not to inquire into people's private opinions or advice.

Such action, such imprisonment, savors too much of Germany's and Russia's internment camps.

AS WE WERE GOING TO ST. IVES

Orillia will consider the advisability of reducing its council membership to seven members. Presumably it is now nine. Newmarket has nine. Aurora has eight. (Newmarket pays nine. Aurora pays none.) The Ontario department of municipal affairs some time ago recommended that Orillia reduce its council to seven or less members.

A report made to the Orillia council by one of its members states that York township with 78,581 population has seven councillors and North York township with 21,692 population has five councillors. The towns of Midland and Leaside by vote some years ago reduced council membership to seven.

The Orillia report states that with seven council members there would be seven council committees and every councillor would be a member of each committee and chairman of one. "All members of council would then be fully informed at all times of what was going on."

But what is the use of having committees if the full council is to consider every detail of town business? The council would have seven committees. Each committee would have seven members. Each member would have seven committee jobs. We didn't realize that we were living so close to St. Ives.

WHAT WE LEARNED

Last week we said that this week we would write about what we learned at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association annual meeting in Toronto. We haven't left much space for this purpose and it is going to appear that we didn't learn much—well, perhaps, our capacity to learn dwindles as we grow older.

There was quite a bit of oratory. One of the speakers, John E. Allen, representative of the Lintoye Co., who was talking on newspaper make-up (almost as much of a science as facial make-up), said that "oratory is the art of making deep sounds from the chest seem like messages from the brain." Some of his other amusing definitions were: "Poetry is the art of arranging words in the order of least commercial value," "A co-ordinator is one who makes organized chaos out of regimented confusion," and "Advertising is the art of making people want what they would be better off without."

Another of the "shop talk" speakers was Carl Gazley, of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, who won a number of new members. Nearly 40 Canadian weekly newspapers have joined the Audit Bureau of Circulations in the last three or four years, and it would appear as if there now would be a rapid increase in the number of weeklies providing the public with audited circulation statements.

Among the speakers who were supposed to enlighten our minds was Hon. George Hoadley, chairman of the health committee, Federation of Agriculture, who outlined agriculture's national health plan. Mr. Hoadley has given years of his life to advancing the cause of health insurance, and we may be sure that when Canada's farmers put their shoulder to the wheel, as they are doing, national health insurance is inevitable. As civilian doctors have become fewer they have protected themselves to some extent from sheer exhaustion by shortening the time they spend on their patients and increasing their fees. This is one element in the increased cost of living which we fancy the dominion bureau of statistics index does not show, but it is showing itself in a stimulated interest in national health insurance.

Another speaker who had a worth-while message was Rev. Thomas B. McDormand, a Baptist minister who spoke on behalf of the "Christian Education Advance" movement. Mr. McDormand said that while the organization for which he spoke was Protestant, "we are just as interested in the progress of the Catholic church as of our own churches." Mr. McDormand said that when the Christian Education Advance movement made a canvass of a British Columbia town last year to interest the people in church-going it made a list of all non-church-goers and sent the names of persons of Protestant background to the Protestant churches and names of persons of Catholic background to the Catholic church. When you consider that all Christian church-goers, both Catholic and Protestant, make up such a small proportion of the total population of the world, it is foolish for these two branches of the Christian church to quarrel with each other.

A Roman Catholic priest, publisher of a French weekly newspaper at Edmonton, told the writer that a fellow Catholic priest (also present at the convention), who publishes a number of weekly newspapers in the Gravelbourg, Sask., area, has one newspaper for a Catholic constituency and the others for Protestant communities. Naturally his friend said, he prefers to publish a Catholic paper, but where that is not possible it is his aim to publish good non-Catholic papers upholding Christian principles.

What else did we learn? A friend from a Newfoundland outpost told us that Newfoundlanders believe that the historic Atlantic meeting of Churchill and Roosevelt was at Placentia Bay, Newfoundland. As they are now safely in Quebec's citadel, it won't jeopardize their safety to tell where they were so long ago.

We had a chat with Mayor Conboy of Toronto, who was host at one of the dinners. Mayor Conboy was worried about the new bus regulations. He was afraid that Toronto people were going to be carried to Newmarket and be stranded here. George Drew, now premier, spoke another evening. After the war he would have Canada bring British aircraft experts to this country and establish a great aircraft industry. But what is Britain going to manufacture after this war? We can't manufacture all our needs in this country. We must be prepared to buy some manufactured products from other countries, if we want them to buy agricultural, forest and fishery products from us.

As we looked at Col. Drew we thought: He whilst his companions slept was toiling upward in the night. Premier Drew should do well. He attains his present opportunities by virtue of patient years of study, writing and toil.

There were several convention speakers who told us that after the war we must return to what they call "free enterprise." We like every word they say, but we wish they would tell us how they are going to avoid another depression. They credit all our modern inventions to the system of unrestricted competition, and they do not mention the contribution of government foundations, publicly-endowed universities, and scientists who would never have got to first base if they had had to make their way in the competitive struggle.

There is a big job for those of us who try to keep our heads these days and exercise our judgment. On the one side we have those who are saying that private enterprise has not been able to provide full employment because government has stepped in and interfered, and on the other side we have those who say that we can't have some public enterprise and some private enterprise—that we must go the whole way to give public enterprise a chance to prove itself.

And that brings us to Agnes Macphail. Miss Macphail attended some of the convention sessions. As usual, she was not content to go off with the ladies to see a hairdressing demonstration. She is married to public service and she doesn't have to worry about her hair. Instead, she attended a men's session to hear the publishers discuss their problems. George W. James, arch-enemy of the C.C.F., whose anti-C.C.F. articles were reprinted (by parties or a party unknown) to the extent of 500,000 copies during the election campaign, was conducting a forum on advertising. He came to the question: "Should election advertising be charged at a higher rate than commercial advertising?" He put the question to Miss Macphail.

Miss Macphail told him emphatically no, and

Of People And Things

THEY MEET AGAIN

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Yes, they meet again, and wonderful and far reaching as is the Roosevelt and Churchill meeting, I do not mean that, I am speaking of the Pine Orchard Institute grandmothers.

Not only did they meet again, but they met at the home where for 14 years this event has taken place—the home of Mrs. Charles Flintoff, now of Newmarket.

The meeting opened in the usual way with the singing of The Maple Leaf, repetition of the Collect and the Opening Ode.

Various matters were up for discussion, among them ditty bags, and it was decided to fill the same number as last year, the heads of the standing committees to be a service committee to buy for all the bags.

A letter was read thanking us for our donation for sugar, which went overseas in the form of jam.

After the business was concluded, the program began.

First came the singing of old songs, dear to the grandmothers, in which everyone joined with a will. Following in the same tradition the next number was "Long, Long Ago," sung as a duet by Mrs. G. McClure and Mrs. A. Needler.

The next was two very beautiful readings by Mrs. R. Hawtin, one about a daughter, one about a grandmother. The "Second Minuet," sung by your scribe, came in here and Mrs. B. Dike followed with a reading, and a very funny one, telling of how a man was converted, against his will, to giving to foreign missions.

On being asked if she hadn't another reading, Mrs. Dike replied that if the grandmothers would put on a spelling match she would do as she was asked.

Well, as might be expected, knowing grandmothers both of the old and the new school, they were good sports and put on a splendid match. Mrs. Wellman officiating as teacher.

The match being an accomplished fact, Mrs. Dike had to redeem her promise and gave us a reading on reducing, which left us all quite satisfied with our weight, whatever it might be.

An arithmetical flower contest followed, conducted by Mrs. Wellman and then the roll-call. "Tell what you remember of your first day at school." This was good, for there were some who wept, some who simply walked home again, one who ate her lunch on the way, one who was so small her school bag dragged on the ground and the ripe tomato inside imparted its color and flavor to the driest book, there were two who fell downstairs, one with curls had them well pulled and a small visitor, aged seven, told us she was pushed downstairs on her first day.

Mrs. Hope acted as accompanist throughout and the meeting closed with the national anthem.

Dainty and delicious refreshments followed and everyone had a chance to visit, which privilege is even more prized than of old, for gone are the days when we got into a car and just went, without much regard to motive power.

NOW we look with a calculating and fearful eye at our tires and gas meters, and it naturally follows that when we DO go, we make the most of our time.

I should have said that a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Flintoff for entertaining us at her home. In her reply, Mrs. Flintoff said she only hoped that another year would see us there again.

When one remembers the old days, when to be a grandmother was to be practically put on the shelf, and sees the grandmothers of today, with interests as wide as the world, and activities as strenuous as those of their grandchildren, one feels that the world is indeed going forward, that age has no restrictions save its strength, and that brains grow like bodies, leaving the finished product something for all to admire—the grandmother.

Gathering the Sport Facts

Arguments happen in every ball game. Just the other day the daily papers were telling about a $100 fine which was slapped on ("Lippy") Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Arguments usually call for a fine of $10 to $200 in the big leagues but an argument on the baseball field once cost the Boston Braves the cool sum of $1,000,000.

Baxter Jordan, who at one time was a first baseman on the roster of the Braves, was the culprit in the most costly argument of all time. Judge Emil Fuchs was at that time owner of the Boston club and being hard pressed for money he was seeking a buyer for the club. He had been told that a wealthy Detroit man was interested in the aggregation. In fact he was willing to pay as high as $1,000,000 for the franchise.

The prospect had been watching the club for days and seemed impressed with the thought of owning a major league club. One day, when negotiations were reaching a conclusion, the prospect went to see a game between "his" team and the Detroit club. The game was staged as an exhibition for his benefit.

After a nip and tuck battle the Braves held a 3-2 lead going into the last half of the ninth inning. There were two men out at the time. "Goose" Goslin was on second base when the batter hit a weak infield grounder. The play at first base was close and Jordan, who thought the runner had been called out, started to leave the field for the clubhouse. The umpire had, however, called the runner safe and Jordan turned back to argue with him. Goslin, in the meantime, with a fine burst of speed had darted home with the tying run during the argument.

Boston lost the game in the 14th inning. Jordan lost the argument. The owner of the Boston club lost $1,000,000 because the prospective buyer became disgusted and cancelled the deal.

ASKS ACTION TO END ODOR

A writ was issued a week ago today by Smith, Rae, Greer and Cartwright, Toronto solicitors, on behalf of Donald Rogers, Yonge St., Aurora, to secure an injunction to compel the Collis Leather Co. to take steps to end the nuisance caused by odors from the tannery waste and the "lantern creek."

Mr. Rogers told The Era and Express that this was his fourth year resident in Aurora and that he thought the odors worse this year than last year. The town council had been dealing with the company, he said, but the company did not seem to be making any progress.

As the courts will not open until September, there will be no immediate result from the issuing of the writ, said Mr. Rogers.

"Fighting Dann" Retired By Legislation Not Inclination

Listed for retirement from duties as assistant provost marshal of M.D. 2 is Lieut.-Col. Thomas Dann, Aurora. Col. Dann, a veteran of the Great War and former assistant commissioner of the R.C.M.P., came out of retirement at Aurora shortly after the outbreak of war. His retirement is in accordance with new army regulations.

He was born in Manchester, England, in May 1881, and after an English public school education came to Canada at the age of 22. He went to western Canada, where he joined the "Mounties." In 1906 he was promoted to corporal, in 1908 sergeant, 1910 staff-sergeant, and was commissioned as an inspector at MacLeod, Alta., in 1912. He was known to his comrades as "Fighting Dann."

He served overseas from 1914 to 1919, and holds a war decoration as well as the Coronation Medal, 1911, the King George 6th Coronation medal, and the R.C.M.P. long service medal. His work in the present war has been with internment camps.

Honey Rationed As Anxious Public Raids Beekeepers

Rationing of honey, announced on Monday, came none too soon to assure a fair division of available supplies.

"Beyond control," is the way Councillor A. A. Cook, Aurora apiarist, interviewed by The Era and Express on Saturday, described this year's demand for honey.

"This year's supply is fairly good, about 70 percent of a bumper crop. I should think," stated Mr. Cook. "But the demand is terrific. Our first four days' canning went like hot cakes and at one stage we were behind 7,000 pounds in orders. We still have canning to do but have given up attempting to keep up with the demand. Our customers have been mostly local, but many outsiders have come attempting to get honey."

With sugar, syrup and fresh fruits scarce, honey is being eagerly sought by housewives. So heavy has been the demand in the Markham area from city motorists that the township constable has had to direct traffic. Other bee-keepers in the Aurora district report a heavy steady demand.

Wed 63 Years, Has Nine Grandchildren Enlisted

Mrs. James Gould, Tyler St., celebrated her 80th birthday on Sunday. She was born in Grey county, her maiden name being Sarah Armstrong. Married at 17, she and her husband this year will be wed 63 years.

While seldom out of her home, Mrs. Gould handles her household duties and finds time to do some knitting. Eight grandsons, representing all branches of the armed forces, navy, army and R.C.A.F., are in action in the present conflict, while one of her granddaughters, Norma Rae, joined the C.W.A.C. a few months ago.

William Gould and Mrs. Albert Foster, of Aurora, and Mrs. Stewart Rae, Lemonville, are children residing in the district.

He was a member of St. John's Roman Catholic church, Newmarket.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Wes. Perry, veteran Barrie softballer who last year performed for Queen's Yorks in the Aurora town league, is at it again, this time with the Harmony team in the Centre Simcoe loop. Diminutive Perry, who is turning grey, has quite a bit of speed left in the old soupbone and is still mowing down the batters. He can catch too, and has played both positions with his present nine, who, incidentally, are unbeaten in ten starts and are favored to take the title. He is an electrician by trade and was working on the R.C.O.C. plant here last year.

Eddie Stransman, veteran Barrie softballer and hardballer, who is a sergeant with the R.C.A.F., is hobbling around with a cast on his leg these days. Eddie suffered a broken leg a few weeks ago in an R.C.A.F. flight game. We saw him last week at the R.C.A.F. vs. armored corps hardball clash.

One of the big rooters for the fliers, but now strictly from the sidelines, was Cpl. Fred Thompson, the old left-hander of yesterday for Stouffville, Aurora and Newmarket. Freddie turned in many a useful effort on the mound and for a portside had pretty fair control most of the time. He was stationed in western Canada but has been back east for some months.

Newmarket Camp took hardball honors for '43 in the Newmarket town league by a lopsided score last Friday night. "Lefty" Newbold and Clair Exelby handled the mound duties for the camp, which didn't have a full line-up (not that it made such a great deal of difference).

Lieut. Jack Morris, one of the maestros of the Harkness hammerers, was pressed into service in right field and did a nifty job. Wearing heavy army boots, Jack still had enough speed about, along with baseball acumen, to lay down a drag bunt and beat the throw to first. Mr. Morris knows the score from any angle on the diamond and once caught and played outfield for Meaford, as well as for senior teams in the Niagara peninsula. He is now trying to get intermediate O.A.B.A. rating for his No. 23 team despite the fact that military necessities may make some big gaps in the future line-ups of all camp teams.

Last year, after promising the team B rating, the O.A.B.A. sent them into the A series against the redoubtable Morse A.C. team from Toronto. If the camp gets B rating it will be able to fill in any vacancies with Newmarket town league players, but unfortunately, with the exception of one or two boys, the veterans from the canal-town league will hardly do for O.A.B.A. competition. Reinforcements, however, could be expected from Aurora Depot, Brampton and other centres.

Tony Colantino, who played for Newmarket this year, also played with the Brampton camp senior baseball entry. Tony was no ball of fire at Newmarket despite the fact the Hamilton lad has played pony league ball and is the property of the championship St. Louis Cards chain system and in peace-time a future big-leaguer. Watson, who pitched and played second base for the camp in the dying games of the league, impressed the fans with his fine arm. He has had considerable experience in western Ontario and inter-county ball. It may seem hard to believe but the old stylish stout, Charlie VanZant, rang up a batting average of .612 in the Newmarket league this year. Charlie, who is a few years over the 30 mark, (we know exactly but since the Exelby expose, refuse to say), has been playing either hardball or softball since the tender age of 15, when he caught intermediate O.A.B.A. around Guelph. His vocabulary and verbosity are as good as ever, also the throwing arm and the batting eye, but the underpins, plus a 42-44 waistband have slowed him up a bit. Will this be his last season in active competition? Well, Charlie refuses to commit himself, for he has retired before and then come back for more. Most you can get him to say is: "I am slowly getting to the retiring stage."

Herbie Cain, a veteran in baseball but younger than VanZant, blasted an even .600 at the plate this season, we are told, and fielded about as well as ever. Herbie was out through illness too quite a bit. Now he is fit as a fiddle for hockey if the army or immigration troubles do not intervene. The calibre of the pitching in the league must have been really something in most cases with such high averages. We wait to see what such sluggers as Al. Wysinski, Exelby, Buchowsky and O'Neill rang up. Of course a short schedule invariably favors the batters.

While on the subject of hardball, we see that Ernie Wortley, veteran hockey arbiter, and well-known in these parts, is one of the most active umpires in Toronto and provincial baseball play-offs. Ernie is past his best, but still better than most of the newcomers.

Ronnie Rowe, former Markham hockeyist who moved to Galt the past summer from Marlboroughs and will do his puck-chasing for that city in Junior A, is playing third base for Galt Terriers this season.

Forbes, another former Marlborough, is also on the team.

Sandy Urquhart, sterling centre half of Newmarket camp's soccer team, was honored by being chosen as a member of the all-service team to play the Ulster club. L. Cpl. Urquhart formerly played for Scottish and is a polished performer.

Brampton Camp athletes are in the thick of things these days. Their lacrosse team is threatening for the O.A.L.A. lacrosse title, while their baseball team has been granted intermediate A rating and is currently playing a series with Morse A.C. of Toronto. The Brampton ball team took Newmarket camp 2-0 in a well played game, which speaks well for the boys from No. 23 B.T.C., as the Brampton team has been playing congress baseball all year. Newmarket had consolation from two softball wins.

R.C.A.F. graduates in recent days included some athletes known throughout the district: Vic Reynolds, former Barrie and St. Kitt's hockeyist, J. R. Desroches, ex-Penelung-Midland puck-chaser, Bill Newnam of Markham, softballer and tennis player, Eric Prudham, former East York Junior, and senior lacrosse player.

Gordy Brennan, former Aurora Junior hockeyist, and this year a stand-out soccer player, will again be in action on the rugby front as a member of the Oakwood Indians.

His brother-in-law and ex-Aurora hockey captain, Jimmy Cummings, is expected to be one of the ace backfielders of senior O.R.F.U.

Last year he was with Indians but might shift to the Balm Beach club this season. Playing with a comparatively weak team, he was one of the best in the business. Both Cummings and Brennan have been rejected for active service because of physical ailments.

From Windsor we learn there is a possibility that "Pepper" Martin, St. Andrew's and Queen's University star and pride of Aurora Tigers a few years back, may be seen in action with the navy footballers this season.

"Scotty" Mair, the former Aurora-Marlboroughs junior star, who is playing a bang-up game for the navy in the Toronto Easches fast-ball series, may also try his hand at football this season. Mair has had little experience but possesses plenty of natural athletic ability.

"Flash" Hollett, the bashing Boston Bruin and former king of Kewick softballers, is a member of the Invictus club which won Toronto Ki-Y honors and awaits the O.A.S.A. play-offs. Was one of the league's best hitters. May not play hockey this winter.

Richmond Hill advanced to the inter-league play-offs as they defeated Lansing 10-6 in the clinching game of a best in five series to make it three straight. "Joint" McComb, who pitched a no-hitter against the same club, was ousted from the game in the first inning as the Lansing boys pounced on his delivery for a brace of hits and four runs.

Teddy Bennett, playing his umpteenth season and this year as good as ever, relieved "Joint" and pitched the balance of the game with difficulty in only one frame. The Hill nibbled for runs and once they had a lead played hurry-up ball to escape the darkness ruling, and just got under the wire. Meanwhile Unionville hoped to be able to meet the Hill this week, needing only one game to take their round.

Davisville Play-off spots were decided on Saturday, with the boys from No. 23 missing a second place as they lost a close one to Bowser's 3-2. Cec. Brown who relieved Larmer, was the losing hurler. It was fast softball, however, and playing that kind of ball the Exelby clan have a chance to take things. Ostranders, who finished second, will be tough. So far as army softball is concerned, the Newmarket boys will meet the Camp Borden winners for the district title. Last year they downed Engineers in the play-off and won the cup for a year.

No. 3 C.A.C.F.R. tankers have had to forego plans of games with both Newmarket and Aurora R.C.O.C. in view of Borden play-offs. Our boys are currently out in front of the North Zone league by a fair margin, and in the camp play-offs have taken two straight wins in a six team round-robin series.

Bernie Gantner, ace keystone sacker of other years for Newmarket, is still at Borden and has been playing that spot for A11. He claims he has retired from action but I won't be surprised to see him in the line-up as my charges clash with the infantrymen to night. He looks well and sends regards to his Newmarket friends.

Bruce Stiles, one of the greatest all-round athletes ever produced in North York has been officially reported missing from the Sicily campaign. First news of this was given in The Era and Express a few weeks ago. Hope is held that he may be a prisoner of war. Bruce was a lance-corporal with the signals, who saw as usual tough studding in the invasion. He is 29 and enlisted along with his brother, James L. ("Jay") on Sept. 8, 1939, coming back from a holiday in Algonquin park to do so. By December of that year he was overseas. At the time of his enlistment he was employed as a printer in Oshawa.

It was back in 1932 as a student at Aurora high school that he set up three records which in a decade have not been touched by the boys at Aurora high. Blessed with great natural ability, size, and a long pair of strong legs, Bruce excelled in the running broad jump that year he reached 19 feet 7 1/2 inches. The hop, step and jump saw him go a distance of 35 feet 5 inches, while in the 100-yard dash he ran to victory in 10 2/5 seconds. We have not the inter-school records before us but if memory serves us right he holds the record for the fastest time in the furlong dash. He spent several weeks one year at the O.A.C. camp at Orillia. In lacrosse he played junior with Aurora for two years, being a member of that great little junior team of 1933 which went down to defeat before St. Kitt's.

Possessing a fine arm, he was a regular outfielder on the famous Aurora Blue Ribbons, and at the plate, while not too dependable, he was learning to hit fairly well when he left Aurora. Basketball was his winter game, and at the cage game few were able to vie with him. His height gave him a big natural advantage. Tennis was another game he liked.

Readers of the army "Bullet" will miss the cheery dispatches on the doings of the Queen's Yorks, written by that good sportsman, Cpl. Angus West, with fair regularity. "Ang" is now with the postal corps at Ottawa and hoping to go on a long ocean voyage. The versatile West will be silenced for a time at least. In his civilian days "Ang" was one of the best sports boosters in all North York and his army career has been characterized by the same boundless enthusiasm.

ANNOUNCES FAIR DATES

Dates have been announced by the agricultural societies branch of the Ontario department of agriculture for fall fairs and exhibitions as follows: Brampton, Sept. 7, 8; Alliston, Sept. 17, 18; Lindsay, Sept. 15-18; Beeton, Sept. 30, Oct. 1; Bolton, Sept. 29, 30; Markham, Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2; Schomberg, Oct. 15, 16.

corporal with the armored corps, was transferred from Borden this week to a Nova Scotia training centre. Frew in the last few years was a big disappointment, never regaining the form that he showed as a junior. It was the same way in softball too.

Ordinance Soccerites continue to boot the pigskin about nearly every night in the town park and are just about ready for action.

Staff Cotton, who is coaching the team, has a wealth of material on hand, but finds difficulty in assembling all his players at one time. "Amby" knows all the tricks of the game, having played soccer in pro ranks in the Old Country.

Herb Holman heads the civilian candidates for the team and, if he can regain the form he had in high school and King City days, will prove a tower of strength to the depot backfield. Will White, Russell Farren, Tommy Dunbar and Bob Dobson are other plant workers who are looking good.

The first three are forwards, while Dobson is a goalie. Bob Ritchie, Cpl. Mason, both experienced performers, Lieut. A. J. Hadley, Jimmy Burke, Al. Dunstall, Briggs Creighton, Mitchell, and Mac Rank will be hard to keep off the team.

We have missed a few candidates but those are the ones who have been most faithful in turning out to practice. We would be remiss if we forgot to mention Bill ("Doc") White, trainer, rubber-down, and general factotum and aide to Staff Cotton.

The boys are awaiting boots. That seems strange when you think of the number of brogans that come daily to the local plant. But, unfortunately, army boots will not do for soccer and efforts are being made to purchase them. That may be a tough job too, as sporting equipment in the Toronto stores has reached an all-time low. Anyone in the district having soccer boots not in use would be doing a real favor by donating or selling them to the club.

Once they have the boots the boys will start kicking in earnest, and it will seem mighty good to hear the thud of too meeting leather in the old town park. The fall and spring are the real seasons for soccer and the boys can play soccer a little longer in the darkening nights than they can play softball. There are quite a few soccer followers in town too who will welcome the chance to see a game.

Amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act

Notice to Interested Employers and Employees

AT ITS 1943 Session, the Parliament of Canada amended the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1940. The effect of these amendments is to require that additional workers be covered under unemployment insurance.

On and after September 1st, 1943, employers must make contributions in respect of the following employees:

★ (1) ALL PERSONS engaged in employment hitherto insurable, regardless of the amount of earnings, who may be paid on an hourly rate, on a daily rate, on a weekly rate, or a piece rate (including a mileage rate).

★ (2) ALL EMPLOYEES paid on a monthly or annual salary basis, whose salary, including any cost of living bonus which may be received, does not exceed $2,400 a year.

All employees, as above described, must pay their contributions as required by law.

The combined contribution for each employee earning $26 or more a week will be in Class 7—63c a week.

To Employers: Obtain unemployment insurance books from the nearest local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission as soon as possible, for employees above described who will become insurable on September 1st, 1943.

To Employees: It is in your interest to see that your employer makes contributions on your behalf from September 1st, 1943, if you become insurable through this Amendment.

Your Help is Badly Needed

MOTHERS... Wives... Sisters... Daughters... here is your opportunity to help on the production of Canada's food supply for next winter. The work is not hard; conditions are pleasant; you will be paid current wages for doing it.

Thousands of those who formerly worked in the canning factories are now on year-round war jobs. If the abundant tomatoes—the peaches, corn, beans, peas and other fruits and vegetables which are being gathered from farms and orchards—are not to be largely wasted, thousands of women must be found now to help can them.

You know how necessary these canned supplies will be this fall and winter. So lend a hand, even though you can spare only a few days or a few half days a week. You'll enjoy the work. And how useful the money you earn will be!

You can be of any age from 16 to 60. You don't need any experience or any special permit to undertake the work. So act now—don't delay.

Do This Now

Apply direct to the Superintendent of any nearby canning factory or see the Agricultural Advisor at your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office for full information.

HINTS ARE GIVEN FOR STORING VEGETABLES(By Rudy Renzius for Newmarket Horticultural Society)

All summer you have been watching and tending, hoeing and watering that Victory garden. It will soon be time to harvest all the good things, the cabbages, onions, carrots, beets and turnips. The problem is to make use of every vegetable, by storing, putting up and de-hydrating.
Beets and carrots can be stored in boxes of sand in the basement, then they will keep fresh and smooth. Be sure the sand is dry, clean and covers the vegetables well.
Late cabbages can be left in the ground till the frost comes, then pull them, leaving on the earth that clings to the roots.
Break off the largest, and spreading leaves and put the cabbages in a shallowly dug trench, packed close together.
Cover them with boards, then earth, and when heavy frosts come, add a thick layer of straw.
In case you must store the cabbages in the cellar, wrap them well in newspapers, leaving the earth on the roots, and pack them in a dry corner or on a shelf.
Turnips are left in the ground till after the earlier frosts. Dig and store in a dry, cool cellar.
Onions, when thoroughly dry, are packed in the open mesh bags you have seen in the stores.
This is to circulate the air through the onions and prevent sprouting.
Store squash in a dry attic.
Potatoes are best spread on a rack made from 2x4's and some laths. They want lots of air too.
Nearly all practical magazines these days give instructions how to make simple dehydrators and if you have lots of vegetables it may be worth looking into. It is a very simple and inexpensive process.

Last week Mrs. W. D. Stokes received word of the death of her brother, William Arnold, at Opheim, Montana. Mr. Arnold was born at Mount Albert, the third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Arnold and went to Dakota when a young man.

From there he took up land near Ruddell, Sask., and later moved to Montana, where he died. He never married and is survived by his sister, Mrs. Stokes, and two brothers, John, Ruddell, Sask., and James, Vancouver. He was buried at Opheim, where he had lived for over 30 years.

The mobile unit also accepts applications for enlistment in ground duties, such as airframe, aero engine and wireless mechanics, metal workers and carpenters. Those enlisting as ground crew will be given complete courses of training with full air force pay and allowances.

According to Flt.-Lieut. Pryde, women are playing an important part in the present war by taking over the ground jobs of men who are able and eager to fly.

Girls with experience who enlist may continue in their present type of work, if they so desire. Any one trained in driving, typing, stenography, bookkeeping, telephone operating, stockkeeping and general office work can find the equivalent duty to perform in the women's division.

Girls with no specific qualifications may learn to become clerks (operations room), wireless operators (ground), photographers, dental assistants, typists, equipment assistants, etc.

A popular branch of the service is the dietetic course. Girls without any previous experience quickly learn the value of nutrition, how to cook and conserve precious calories and vitamins, also the art of serving food attractively. This course is conducted by the R.C.A.F. school of cookery at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Successful graduates are known in the air force as chefs, and receive full trade pay.

Women between 18 and 45 years of age, with a minimum education of high school entrance, are eligible for enlistment in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F.

Mrs. Alta Van Norman of Newmarket visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King.

Schomberg Girl Weds
In Woodbridge Church

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 21, when Miss Marjorie Katherine Crane, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crane of Schomberg, became the bride of Mr. Steven Arthur Leonard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Leonard, Schomberg.

The wedding took place at Woodbridge Anglican church with the Rev. Mr. Kidd officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in powder blue sheer with matching accessories and carried a corsage of red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Betty Hume, wore a turquoise blue silk jersey with brown accessories and a corsage of asters and larkspur.

The groomsmen was Mr. John Ellison of Schomberg. The bride's mother was attired in navy blue flowered crepe. The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti for points unknown to the guests.

The slugs, the officer said, they cashed at the counter for merchandise. Asked by Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K.C., if it was needed in the operation of the machine, the officer said that it was operated entirely by chance. He stated that he made the seizure of the machine under the authority of a search warrant.

Pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving on Yonge St., south of Aurora, on July 22, Albert Bates, Barrie, was fined the minimum of $5 and costs.

According to Provincial Constable Howard Jackman, on July 21, at 10:40 p.m., while at the scene of a serious accident south of Aurora, he observed the defendant drive his truck past a fireman, who was assisting him by holding back traffic from the scene of the accident.

"There were upwards of 15 cars parked at the side of the road beside the truck," testified the officer. "Thirty to 35 people were walking back and forth across the road when the accused drove along. The fireman had to jump out of the way and I hollered to the people to get out of the way. The truck kept on going. I ran alongside and called to the driver to pull to the side of the road. I questioned him why he did not stop and he admitted that he saw someone wave his hands but said that he did not know who it was. He had been drinking and appeared sleepy. He said that he had been driving for many hours. I had him stay and take a rest."

Mr. Bates, on the stand, pleaded that he had seen some flashlights but did not know of the accident. He said that he had had a glass of beer earlier in the day and had been driving since noon.

There is some doubt in my mind as to whether the accused felt that he was involved in the accident," commented Magistrate Robinson, when dismissing a charge of leaving the scene of an accident against John Page, 115 Glenmore Rd., Toronto. "Usually under this section there has been physical contact between two vehicles, in which case the accused person has no doubt but that he has been in an accident. In this case today the cars did not come together. It is true that Mr. Page should not have driven off but I feel that he did not consider himself involved in the accident."

Grenville Hudson, Bradford, driver of a car which crashed into a culvert about three miles south of Keswick at about 9:30 p.m. on July 21, told his worship that he had been driving north on his right side of the road and approaching the Jersey River. He noticed the defendant's car coming around the bend in the centre of the road.

"I kept off to my right to avoid an accident," he stated. "I stayed on the shoulder of the road. The two right wheels of my car went over the bank and the car hit the culvert."

The witness told Mr. Matthews that his car was damaged beyond repair.

Mr. Hudson went on to say that he got out of his car and went to speak to Mr. Page, who had stopped his car a short distance up the road.

"I asked him if he would show me his permit, so that I could get his name and address," continued the witness. "He said, 'Yes, if you show me yours.' While I was getting the permit from my car he drove off."

The witness said that the defendant appeared to be in normal condition.

According to Robert Faris, Bradford, passenger in the front seat of the Hudson car, he had seen Mr. Page's car swing around the curve in the middle of the road and stop.

Mr. Hudson said he had seen the car on the shoulder. He added that he had taken the license number of the defendant's car.

Mrs. Jack Hudson, Queensville, also a passenger in the Hudson car, also testified that she saw the Page car coming along the centre of the road.

County Constable William Hill, Sutton, who investigated, told his worship that the culvert is between 100 and 150 feet from the curve in the road. He said that on the evening in question it was raining and the grass on the shoulder wet. Making an inspection of the road he found a mark extending 53 paces to the Hudson car. He did not find any indication that brakes had been applied.

Questioned by his counsel, Frank Moore, Toronto, Mr. Page told his worship that he was superintendent of the Toronto Motor Car Co. On the evening in question he was returning home from his cottage at Lake Simcoe. He said that he was travelling at about 12 miles an hour on his own side of the road and had seen the Hudson car hit the culvert but did not consider himself to have anything to do with the accident. He said that he stopped his car out of curiosity and when asked by Mr. Hudson to show his permit told him that he could take the license number of his car.

Mrs. Page's testimony corroborated her husband's statement. She said her husband's car was on its own side of the road and had nothing to do with the accident.

Magistrate W. N. Robinson, in York county police court here on Tuesday, fined Mrs. Mamie Lewis, Whitechurch township, $50 and costs of $15.50 on a charge of keeping a gaming-house. In addition his worship ordered that the gaming machine which was found on her premises at the corner of Yonge and Eagle Sts., near Newmarket, on Aug. 13, be confiscated together with its contents. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. A similar charge against Alfred Lewis, who pleaded not guilty, was withdrawn.

According to Constable George H. Dewsbury of Whitechurch township, he had the premises, which consist of a service station and lunch-counter, under observation for some time. On the day in question he and another man, Mr. Bingham, went into the service station and ordered some chocolate milk. They played the machine a number of times and upon getting certain combinations received slugs and a couple of nickels from the machine, he said.

The slugs, the officer said, they cashed at the counter for merchandise. Asked by Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K.C., if it was needed in the operation of the machine, the officer said that it was operated entirely by chance. He stated that he made the seizure of the machine under the authority of a search warrant.

POLICE COURT
FINE OF $50 IMPOSED
FOR SLOT-MACHINE

Magistrate W. N. Robinson, in York county police court here on Tuesday, fined Mrs. Mamie Lewis, Whitechurch township, $50 and costs of $15.50 on a charge of keeping a gaming-house. In addition his worship ordered that the gaming machine which was found on her premises at the corner of Yonge and Eagle Sts., near Newmarket, on Aug. 13, be confiscated together with its contents. "Usually under this section there has been physical contact between two vehicles, in which case the accused person has no doubt but that he has been in an accident. In this case today the cars did not come together. It is true that Mr. Page should not have driven off but I feel that he did not consider himself involved in the accident."

Grenville Hudson, Bradford, driver of a car which crashed into a culvert about three miles south of Keswick at about 9:30 p.m. on July 21, told his worship that he had been driving north on his right side of the road and approaching the Jersey River. He noticed the defendant's car coming around the bend in the centre of the road.

"I kept off to my right to avoid an accident," he stated. "I stayed on the shoulder of the road. The two right wheels of my car went over the bank and the car hit the culvert."

The witness told Mr. Matthews that his car was damaged beyond repair.

Mr. Hudson went on to say that he got out of his car and went to speak to Mr. Page, who had stopped his car a short distance up the road.

"I asked him if he would show me his permit, so that I could get his name and address," continued the witness. "He said, 'Yes, if you show me yours.' While I was getting the permit from my car he drove off."

The witness said that the defendant appeared to be in normal condition.

According to Robert Faris, Bradford, passenger in the front seat of the Hudson car, he had seen Mr. Page's car swing around the curve in the middle of the road and stop.

Mr. Hudson said he had seen the car on the shoulder. He added that he had taken the license number of the defendant's car.

Mrs. Jack Hudson, Queensville, also a passenger in the Hudson car, also testified that she saw the Page car coming along the centre of the road.

County Constable William Hill, Sutton, who investigated, told his worship that the culvert is between 100 and 150 feet from the curve in the road. He said that on the evening in question it was raining and the grass on the shoulder wet. Making an inspection of the road he found a mark extending 53 paces to the Hudson car. He did not find any indication that brakes had been applied.

Questioned by his counsel, Frank Moore, Toronto, Mr. Page told his worship that he was superintendent of the Toronto Motor Car Co. On the evening in question he was returning home from his cottage at Lake Simcoe. He said that he was travelling at about 12 miles an hour on his own side of the road and had seen the Hudson car hit the culvert but did not consider himself to have anything to do with the accident. He said that he stopped his car out of curiosity and when asked by Mr. Hudson to show his permit told him that he could take the license number of his car.

Mrs. Page's testimony corroborated her husband's statement. She said her husband's car was on its own side of the road and had nothing to do with the accident.

Magistrate W. N. Robinson, in York county police court here on Tuesday, fined Mrs. Mamie Lewis, Whitechurch township, $50 and costs of $15.50 on a charge of keeping a gaming-house. In addition his worship ordered that the gaming machine which was found on her premises at the corner of Yonge and Eagle Sts., near Newmarket, on Aug. 13, be confiscated together with its contents. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. A similar charge against Alfred Lewis, who pleaded not guilty, was withdrawn.

According to Constable George H. Dewsbury of Whitechurch township, he had the premises, which consist of a service station and lunch-counter, under observation for some time. On the day in question he and another man, Mr. Bingham, went into the service station and ordered some chocolate milk. They played the machine a number of times and upon getting certain combinations received slugs and a couple of nickels from the machine, he said.

The slugs, the officer said, they cashed at the counter for merchandise. Asked by Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K.C., if it was needed in the operation of the machine, the officer said that it was operated entirely by chance. He stated that he made the seizure of the machine under the authority of a search warrant.

Pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving on Yonge St., south of Aurora, on July 22, Albert Bates, Barrie, was fined the minimum of $5 and costs.

According to Provincial Constable Howard Jackman, on July 21, at 10:40 p.m., while at the scene of a serious accident south of Aurora, he observed the defendant drive his truck past a fireman, who was assisting him by holding back traffic from the scene of the accident.

"There were upwards of 15 cars parked at the side of the road beside the truck," testified the officer. "Thirty to 35 people were walking back and forth across the road when the accused drove along. The fireman had to jump out of the way and I hollered to the people to get out of the way. The truck kept on going. I ran alongside and called to the driver to pull to the side of the road. I questioned him why he did not stop and he admitted that he saw someone wave his hands but said that he did not know who it was. He had been drinking and appeared sleepy. He said that he had been driving for many hours. I had him stay and take a rest."

Mr. Bates, on the stand, pleaded that he had seen some flashlights but did not know of the accident. He said that he had had a glass of beer earlier in the day and had been driving since noon.

There is some doubt in my mind as to whether the accused felt that he was involved in the accident," commented Magistrate Robinson, when dismissing a charge of leaving the scene of an accident against John Page, 115 Glenmore Rd., Toronto. "Usually under this section there has been physical contact between two vehicles, in which case the accused person has no doubt but that he has been in an accident. In this case today the cars did not come together. It is true that Mr. Page should not have driven off but I feel that he did not consider himself involved in the accident."

NORTH GWILLIMBURY
RAISE $225 AT RED
CROSS AUCTION SALE

An auction sale was held at Willow Beach on Wednesday evening, Aug. 18, under the auspices of the Willow Beach unit of the North Gwillimbury Red Cross.

Mrs. "Mie" Sedore is the vice-president in charge of this unit. The sale was well attended and "Mie" Sedore deserves a great deal of credit for the big prices and general enthusiasm.

The proceeds of the sale were $225. Mr. and Mrs. Sedore and the many Willow Beach summer residents who helped them should be pleased with the results of their work.

The spirited bidding provided lots of fun for bidders and on-lookers. The bidders, who were more interested in donating their money for Red Cross work than in getting material values, probably established a record for the sale of a lone tin of sardines.

The "lone tin" finally went for one dollar, only to have the purchaser return them for another round. At 50 cents they finally found a permanent owner.

The Willow Beach lady who made the pre-war chocolate cake and saw it sold at $3.75, after fiercely competitive bidding, must have had a thrill. She deserved it! Her pies also created great excitement and added to the financial return.

Other cakes and pies, as well as canned goods, gaily sold at prices which provided a hint of how things would go without Mr. Donald Gordon and his ceiling.

ing to do with the Hudson car going into the ditch.

"The evidence is very contradictory as to where the Page car was at the time the Hudson car hit the culvert," stated Magistrate Robinson. "I always take the view that in cases where a conviction has such consequences and I have any doubt in my mind, I must dismiss the case."

Finding Harold Milburn, Cookeville, Tenn., in possession of liquor, Magistrate Robinson fined him $10 and costs of $3.25. Constable George Foster laid the charge.

A similar charge against James Mills, Toronto, was dismissed when the defendant pleaded that he had purchased the bottle of gin in Toronto shortly before it was found in his car at Musselman's Lake by Constable Robinson Windsor and that he was not driving it at the time it was found in his car.

Of 31 charges of traffic violations two were dismissed, one withdrawn and 15 adjourned to a later date. Of those found guilty, the severest fine was imposed on Ethel H. Crockery, New Toronto, who was fined $25 and costs. Mrs. Crockery was fined by County Constable Ronald Watt.

Those fined $15 and costs were: Alex Robertson, Toronto, who was fined $15 and costs for driving on a highway, and Foster in Georgina township, Murray Shulman and Samuel Geller, both of Toronto and each fined by Constable William Hill in East Gwillimbury, and Robert G. Singer, Toronto, who was fined by Constable Joseph Jardine in East Gwillimbury.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on Louis Chesler, Toronto, and fines of $9 and costs were imposed on John Lang, Forest Hill, and Alex. A. Williamson, Toronto. A fine of $7 and costs was imposed on Percy Kindra, Toronto.

Two motorists who were timed exceeding the speed limit in Newmarket by Constable Kenneth Mount were fined $5 and costs. They are Howard F. Montoney and Arthur Horst, both of Toronto.

Concluding that there was insufficient evidence against Ptes. John O'Brien and Roy Turner, Newmarket military camp, to convict them on a charge of stealing a tire valued at over $25, belonging to Constable Ernest Prosser, game warden, Magistrate Robinson dismissed the charge against them. Both men, who were jointly charged, pleaded not guilty.

According to Constable Prosser, on July 19, while driving in the vicinity of Sutton, he had cause to change his tire. While jacking up the car, the jack slipped, shifting the weight
